Summary

Hello there! I'm Khue, and I work as an English teacher. Undoubtedly, I am proficient in English. Recently, I have a keen interest in technology environment and the software development process. I am particularly drawn to opportunities for learning, communication, and collaboration within teams. Quality assurance is my passion, and I have found my niche in the Software Testing field.

Currently, I am actively seeking opportunities as a Manual Tester, preferably starting with website testing. I am eager for a chance to prove myself and take on new challenges in this domain.

I have acquired fundamental knowledge in Software testing, including ISTQB Foundation Level certification, API Testing using Postman, SQL Foundation, and more. I believe that my proficiency in English can also be a valuable asset in this role.
